

WORLD SEPSIS
DAY
13.
SEPTEMBER

ATTACHMENT TEXT

Dear colleagues and friends,

13th September 2015 is World Sepsis Day – and an opportunity to connect and learn with leading sepsis experts around the globe – at your desktop.

In a worldwide sepsis webinar (#wwsw) over 20 speakers will highlight topics such as quality improvement, infection control, gamification, adaption of international sepsis guidelines for local needs, revised sepsis definition and more. The #wwsw is free – and targeted at health care professionals. Every lecture will end with a Q&A.

Speakers include for example Prof. Simon Finfer, Prof. Tex Kisson, Prof. Flavia Machado, Prof. Tom van der Poll, Prof. Hussain Nasser AlRahma, Prof. Necmettin Unal, and (insert Local Speaker!) – from 6 continents enabling a truly global perspective on sepsis.

Here you will find further information and the possibility to register (the number of participants is limited): www.world-sepsis-day.org/wwsw

The full program will be available from 1 September 2015 on.

In case you plan any events around World Sepsis Day in your hospital or organization, the World Sepsis Day Head Quarter would highly appreciate to receive this information: office@world-sepsis-day.org

In case you need ready to print material in English, you can download it here: http://bit.ly/WSD_Tools

Best regards,